MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF PACIFIC URBANISM

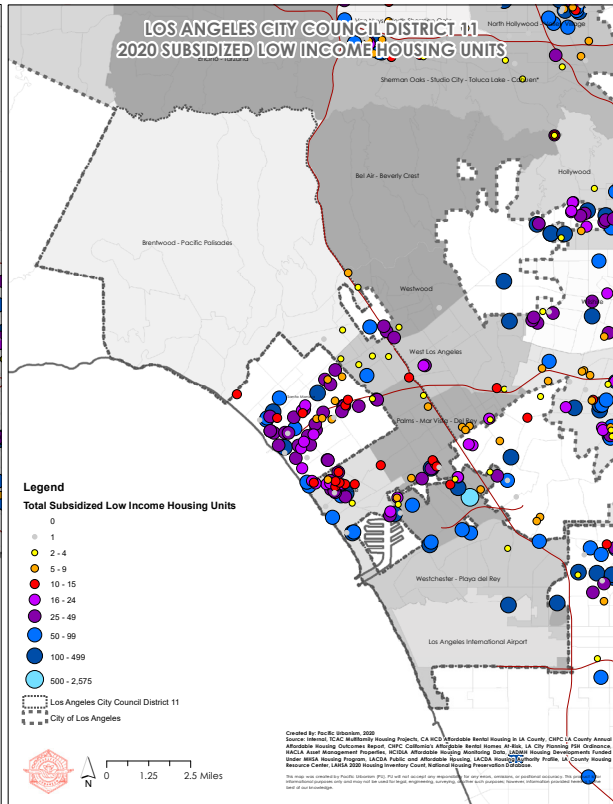

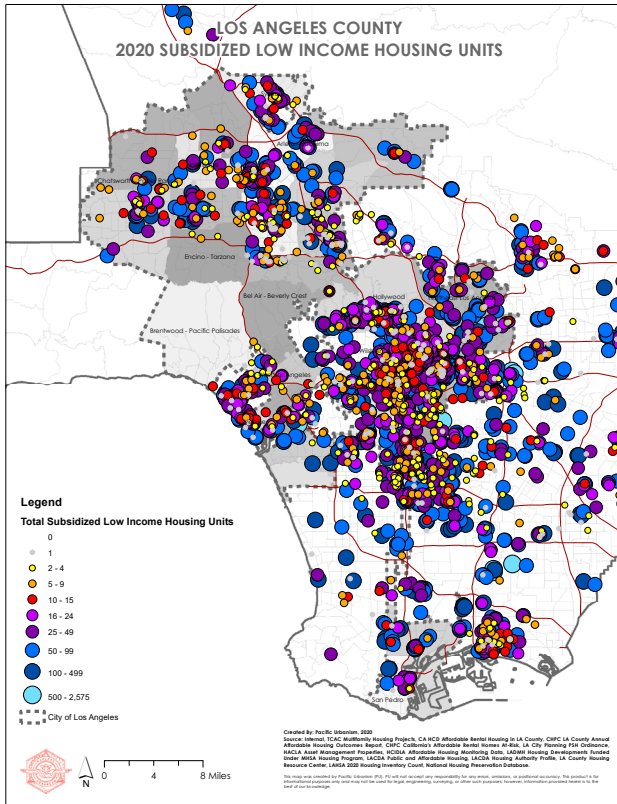

Pacific Urbanism is a community serving enterprise that specializes in policy research and evaluation, data modeling, and community building. Our mission is to serve as a resource to communities throughout California for data driven and multidisciplinary planning support tools. Our goals are environmental justice, public health, safety and welfare of all peoples, regardless of income, ethnicity, gender identity, national origin, religion, age, or ability. We believe that by working together, these goals are well within the reach of the communities that we serve.

Sincerely,
 Dario Rodman-Alvarez

Executive Summary

Subsidized low income housing units, often referred to as “affordable housing”, are housing units in which rental costs are partially or wholly subsidized by public funds and agencies. These units are intended to provide support for households who are overburdened by rent but also service senior citizens, individuals with severe mental health conditions, people with physical disabilities, and others who require similar assistance. As such, knowing the total amount and location of these units is imperative to understanding the current status of affordable housing in Los Angeles, as well as the creation of future policy surrounding affordable housing and overall dwelling unit production citywide.

In 2015, the Southern California Association of Non Profit Housing (SCANPH) created a database of all affordable housing units in Los Angeles, categorized by the funding source or local agency which oversees each unit. In 2018, Pacific Urbanism recreated the 2015 database in order to determine the location of all affordable housing units in Los Angeles County, organized by city, Los Angeles City Council District, and Los Angeles Community Plan Area. This study, performed in 2020, is the most recent inventory of affordable housing units in Los Angeles, using the most current datasets from corresponding agencies.

For purposes of comparison, the City of Los Angeles’ 35 residential community plan areas (CPAs) are organized into four geographic sectors -- referred to as quadrants in Dr. Greg Morrow’s 2013 UCLA dissertation The Homeowner’s Revolution. Three CPAs (Harbor Gateway, San Pedro, and Wilmington-Harbor City) which were not originally included in Dr. Morrow’s quadrants have been included in the Eastside quadrant for this study.

SUBTOTAL SUBSIDIZED LOW INCOME HOUSING UNITS BY LOS ANGELES CITY QUADRANT

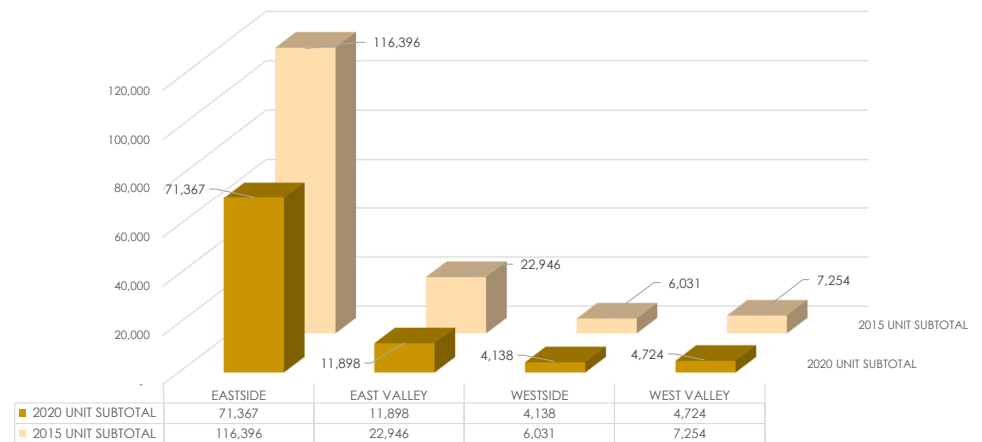

FIG. 2

For both 2015 and 2020, Eastside and East Valley quadrants represent the highest total amount of subsidized low income housing units. The Eastside quadrant alone accounts for 76.3% of units in 2015, and 77.5% in 2020.

SUBTOTAL SUBSIDIZED LOW INCOME HOUSING UNITS PER 100 PEOPLE BY LOS ANGELES CITY QUADRANT

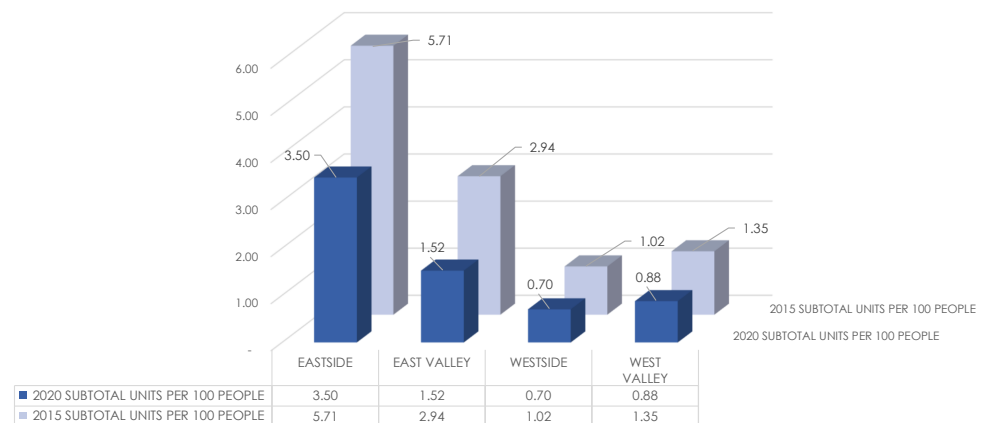

FIG. 3

When accounting for population, Eastside and East Valley quadrants continue to represent the highest proportions of subsidized low income units per 100 people by CPA. The Westside represents the lowest rates for both years, providing units at a rate 5.6x less than the Eastside in 2015, and 5.0x less than the Eastside in 2020.

California HCD. (2017). California's Housing Future: Challenges and Opportunities (Public Draft).

- Report from the California Department of Housing and Community Development. Provides data for growth of housing production in the years 1955-2015 and projected housing need for the years 2015-2025. Concludes that California's housing production falls short of housing need by about 100,000 homes per year (as of 2017). Stresses the correlation between the housing shortage, rising housing costs, and increase in homelessness.
- California Department of Housing and Community Development
- 1955-1990 growth of 200,000 new homes per year
- 2000-2015 growth of 80,000 new homes per year
- 2015-2025 growth of 180,000 new homes needed
- One third of homeless population in California lives in Los Angeles County
- California's senior population is growing and in need of affordable housing (median personal income of $21,300)
- Farm workers also at risk of homelessness due to nature of employment
- "Tribal poverty" is more than twice the rest of state population
- "Unlike home sales prices, rents did not experience a significant downward trend during the recession"
 - Renter income did not follow and declined during the same time frame

Choy-Brown, M., Stanhope, V., Tiderington, E., & Padgett, D. K. (2016, July). Unpacking Clinical Supervision in Transitional and Permanent Supportive Housing: Scrutiny or Support?

- Between "Treatment First" and "Housing First" programs, service coordinators report HF to be more conducive to relationship building and thus successful in offering treatment to service users.

Ecker, J., & Aubry, T. (2017). A Mixed Methods Analysis of Housing and Neighbourhood Impacts on Community Integration Among Vulnerably Housed and Homeless Individuals.

- Research article from the Journal of Community Psychology. Studied 1,200 homeless and vulnerably housed individuals. Compared qualitative and quantitative measures between individuals experiencing high and low levels of community integration. Results found that those in low integration models reported more financial hardship, higher levels of substance use, safety concerns, gang activity, and crime within their housing development or neighborhood.
- Individuals who experienced "high community integration" reported quality of life than their peers experiencing "low community integration."

Graves (2011). Mixed Outcome Developments

- Journal article from the American Planning Association. Examines the propositions of Maverick Landing, a mixed-income development in Boston, and the reasons for their successes or failures. Of the benefits proposed by mixed outcome developments, unsuccessful ones were directly influenced by the manner in which management implemented rules and policy. Recommends policymakers and practitioners seek management that intends to "promote policies that encourage interaction across classes."
- Of the benefits proposed by mixed outcome developments, unsuccessful ones were directly influenced by the manner in which management implemented rules and policy. Graves recommends policymakers and practitioners "seek management that intends to develop policies with resident buy-in, promote policies designed to encourage interaction across classes, and question policies that might dissuade it."
- Different propositions for mixed-income developments
- Management of developments have most influence on success of community

Jewkes, Melanie; Delgado, Lucy;. (2010, November). Weaknesses of Housing Affordability Indices Used by Practitioners.

- Association for Financial Counseling & Planning Education
 - "To ensure the highest level of knowledge, skill and integrity of the personal finance profession by certifying, connecting and supporting diverse and capable professionals who serve communities worldwide. "
- Transportation costs often offset savings in housing after 12-15 miles
- Definitions of affordable housing by different measures (HUD vs. NLHC vs. NAR)

Nelson, et al. (2014). Early Implementation Evaluation of a Multi-Site Housing First Intervention for Homeless People with Mental Illness

- Research article from the Journal of Evaluation and Program Planning. Investigated whether multi-site Housing First models provided higher success rates and what factors influence these results. Found that scattered-site Housing First programs supported by government agencies and/or departments were successful in securing housing units, mental health and homelessness services, and income supports for service users. Additionally, partnerships with local landlords and landlord associations increased housing stability for tenants.
- Partnerships with landlords and landlord associations increased success in stable housing for service users.
- Vancouver - Ministry of Social Development
 - Increased access to services and reduced wait-times
- Toronto - Ontario Works and Ontario Disability Support Program

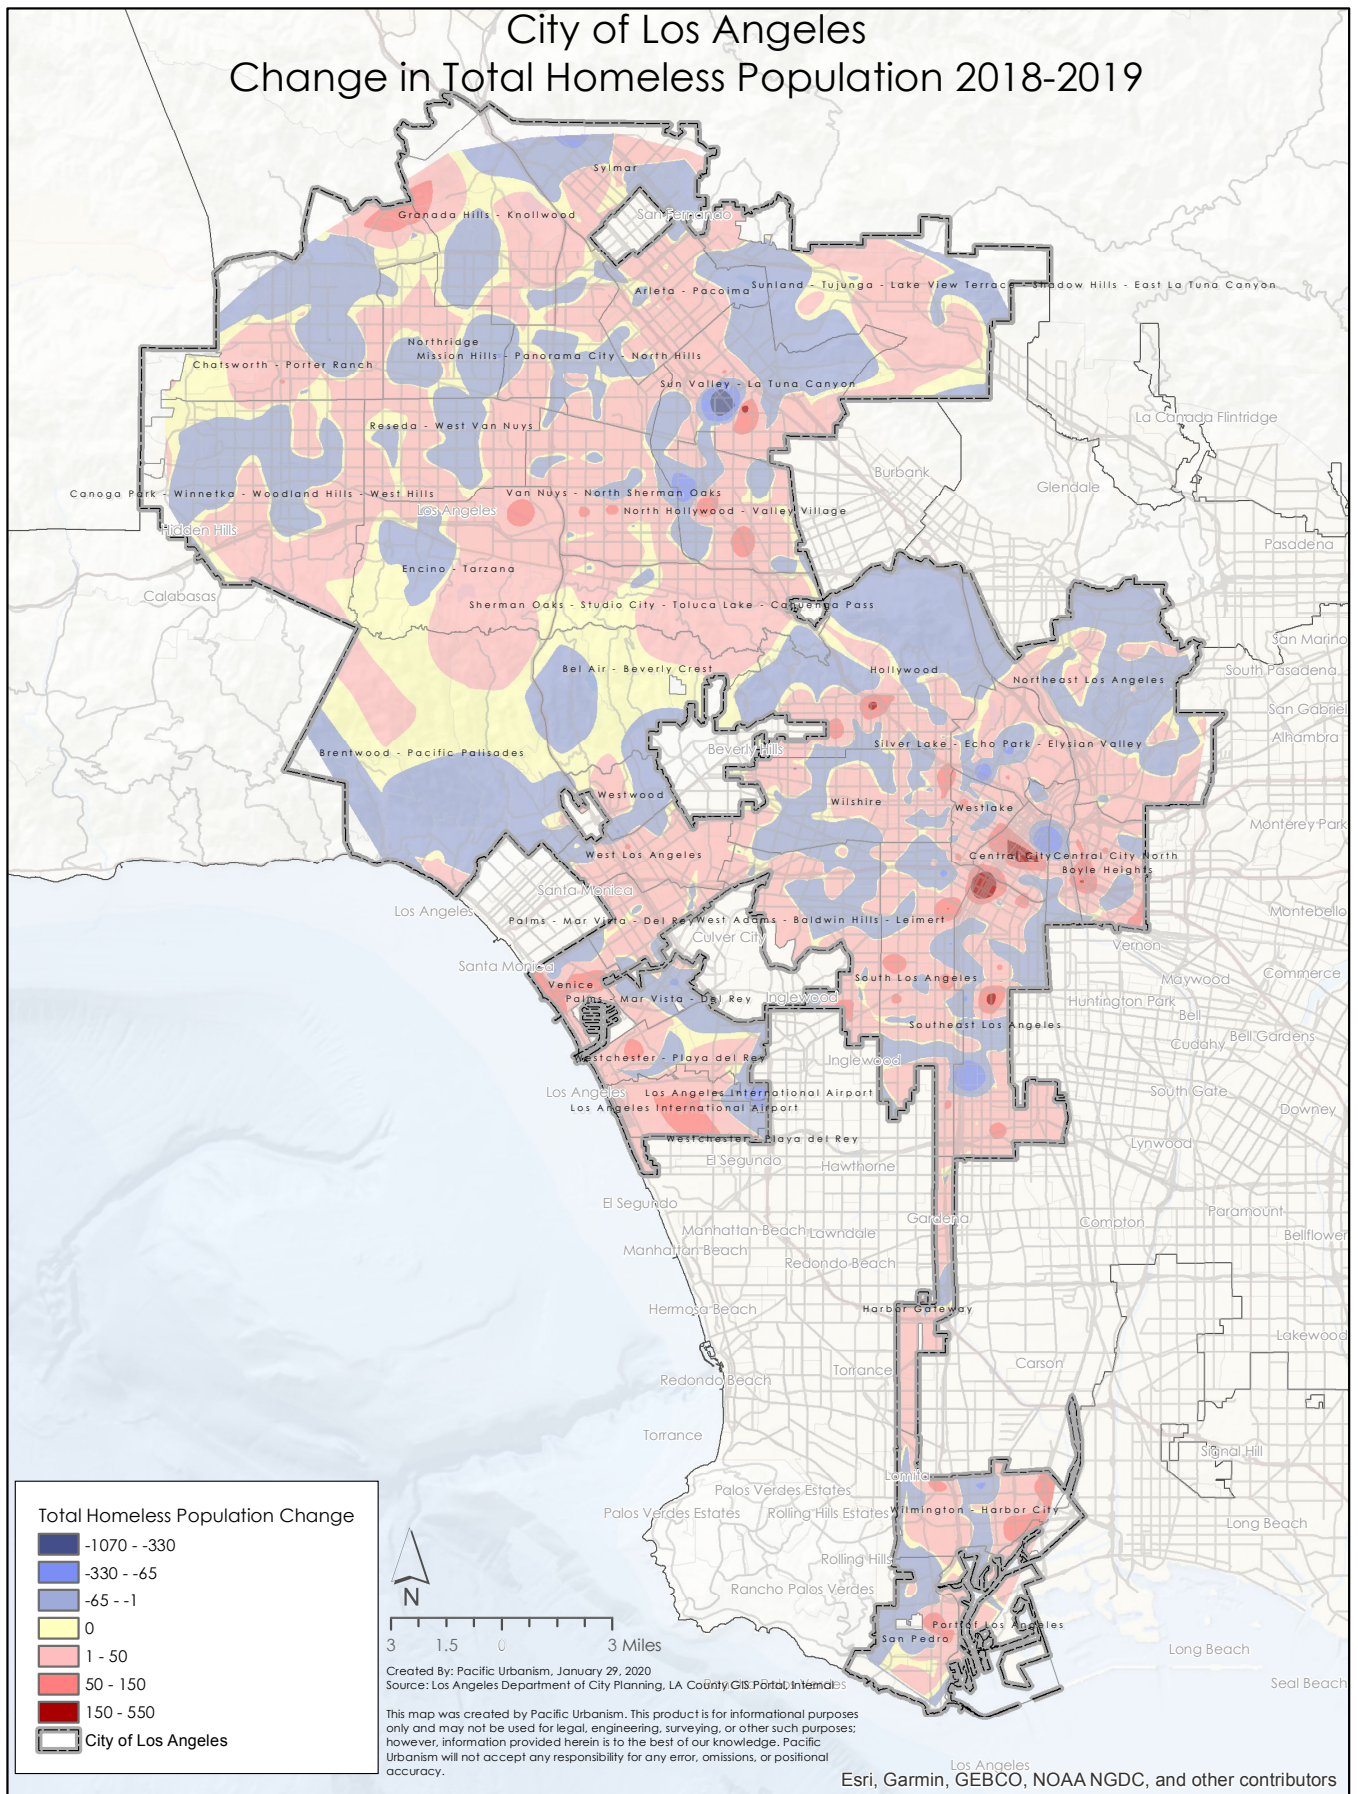

FIG. 9

Homeless population counts remained generally stable between 2018 and 2019, with notable increases in homeless population near central and southern Los Angeles, Hollywood, Sun Valley-La Tuna Canyon, and Venice Beach.

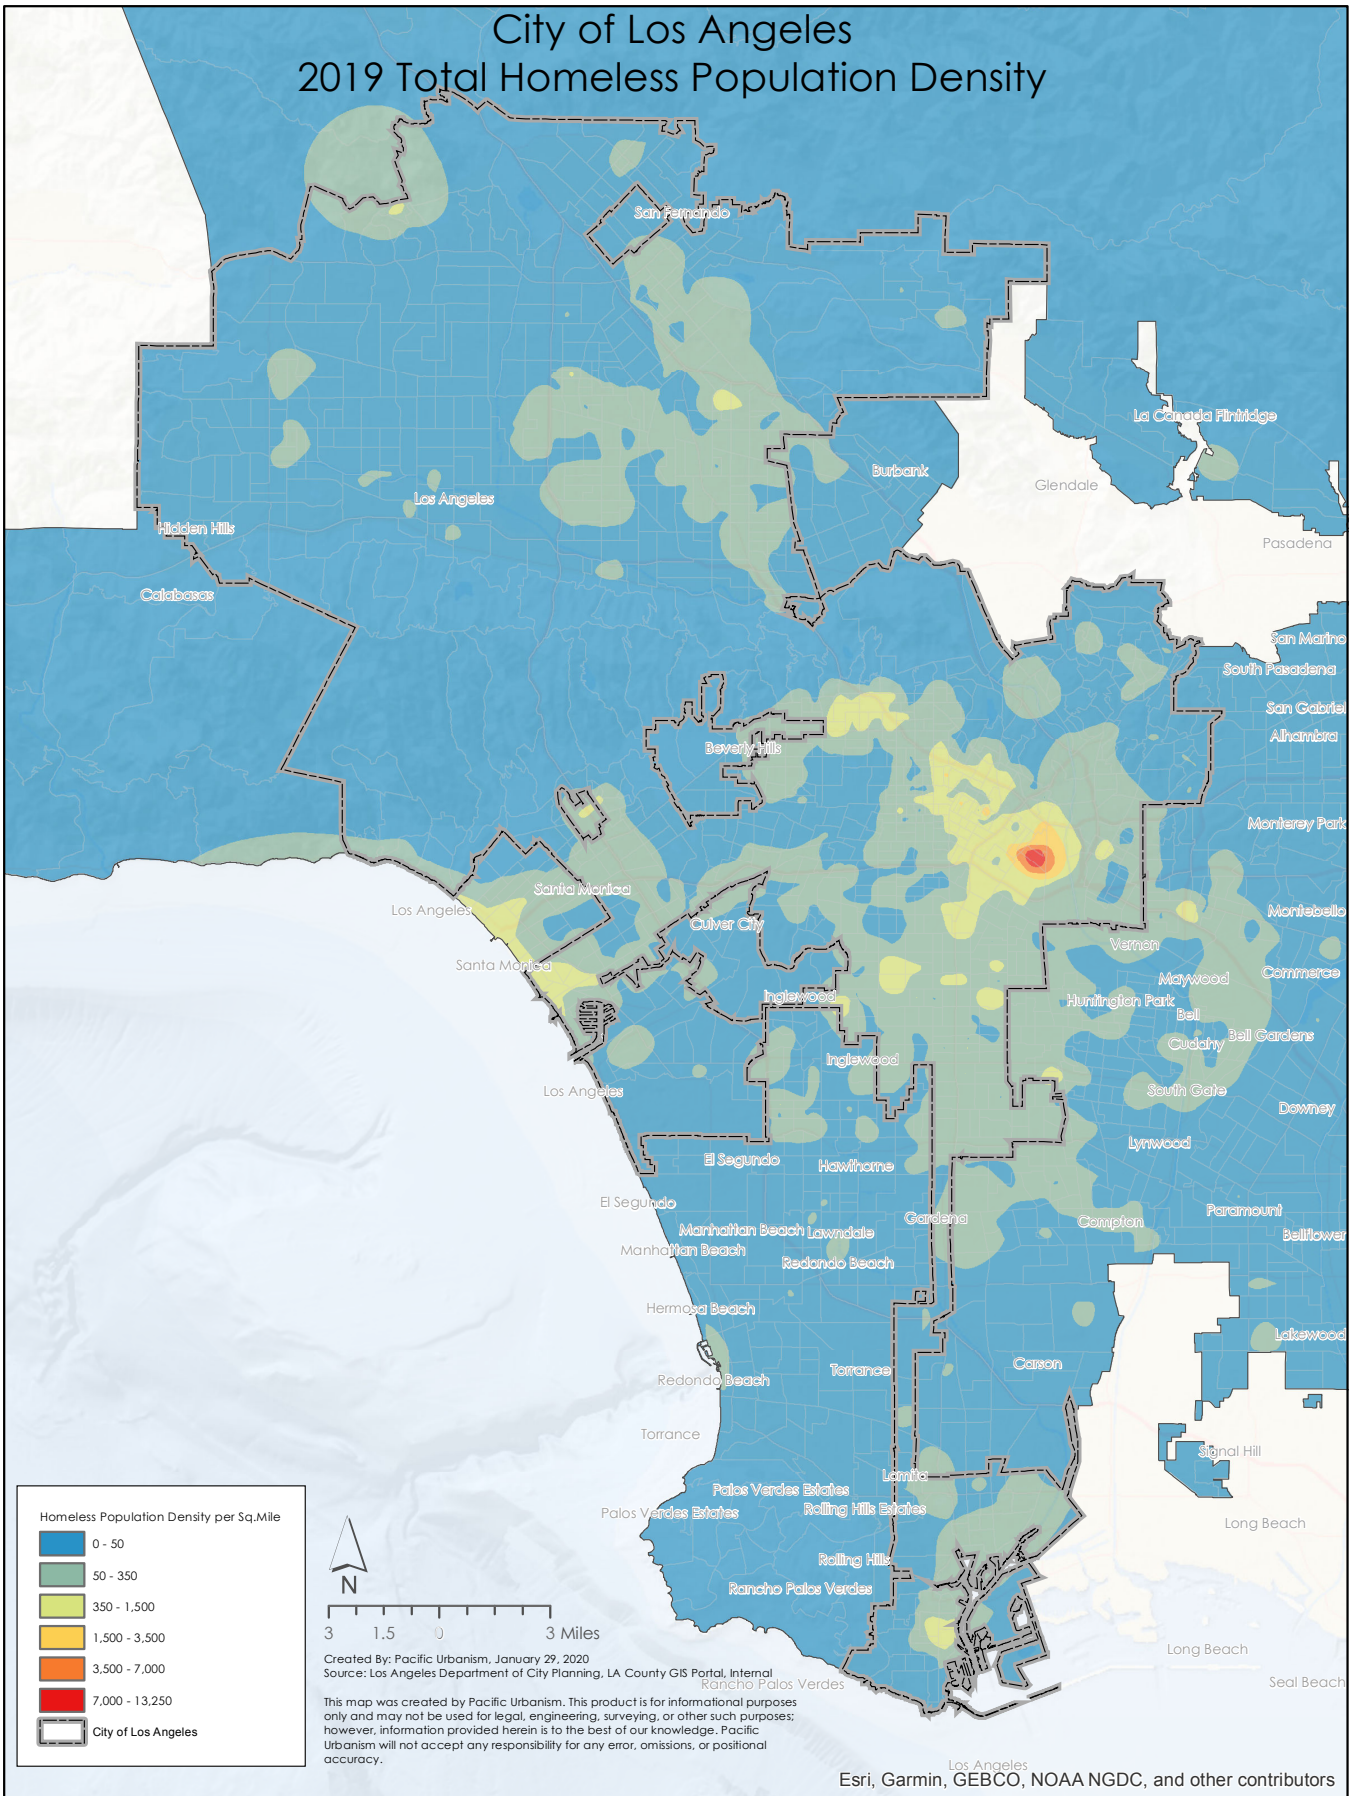

FIG. 10

Homeless population density in 2019 for the City of Los Angeles were highest near central and southern Los Angeles, Hollywood, the eastern San Fernando Valley, Venice Beach, the Port of Los Angeles, and portions of West Los Angeles.

- Housing types
- Urban Residential Trade-Off
 - Utility maximizing households offset employment accessibility to a central workplace and retail location (cost offset)
 - Assumes plain geography and no traffic
- Housing Market Filtering
 - Socio-economic groups filter through neighborhoods as they seek newer, higher quality housing
 - Focus of new construction on high income neighborhoods
 - "Trickle down housing"

Rosenheck, Tsai & Mares (2010). Housing First vs. Residential Treatment First

- Costs for supportive services were significantly higher among single-site, "Treatment First" programs
- "There were a few other significant group differences found, but all suggesting more severe problems among the RTF (Residential Treatment First) group" [Page 225]
- Costs for health services significantly higher among Residential Treatment First group

Schuetz (2009). Thirty-One Flavors of Inclusionary Housing

- Research article from the Journal of the American Planning Association. Discusses Inclusionary Zoning policies and compares their implementation in different metropolitan areas (Washington D.C., Boston, and the Bay Area.) Inclusionary Zoning (IZ) is defined as a series of local and state-wide policies that require or encourage developers to include affordable housing units in developments. Bay Area IZ policies offer density bonuses, fast tracking of permitting processes, fee waivers, provision of subsidies, and other cost offsets to developers as well as exemptions to standing permit policy. This has resulted in the construction of 9,154 affordable units between 1980-2006. If applied to Los Angeles, Bay-Area-type inclusionary zoning could produce ~150 affordable units per year. The Pacific Dell project proposes 148 units once constructed.
- American Planning Association
 - Non-profit educational organization representing the urban field in the United States
- Inclusionary Housing
 - Housing development model in which authorities require developers to include units affordable to a specific economic sector or offer them incentives to do so.
- Umbrella term, not all instances are the same and cities create unique approach to tackle their needs
- Washington DC vs. Bay Area vs. Boston Suburbs
- "Simple correlations suggest that programs that offer density bonuses and those that exempt small developments have produced more affordable units" [Page 453]
- Inclusionary zoning is an approach to housing development planning that requires or incentivizes developers to include affordable housing units. Density bonuses and small project exemptions offer a degree of success in providing affordable housing.
- Jurisdictions that limit the total amount of permits issued exempt developments that include affordable housing.
- Inclusionary Zoning policies have been successful in creating affordable housing units Washington D.C., Boston, and the Bay Area.

Taylor (2006). Perspectives on Helping Low income Californians Find Housing

- Report by the California Legislative Analyst Office. Discusses housing shortage in California as well as its causes and possible remedies. Names lack of housing construction as main reason for shortage, and ultimately rising housing costs. Suggests policy makers focus on expanding efforts to encourage private housing development to supplement affordable housing policy.
- Recommends policymakers focus on "expanding efforts to encourage private housing development" to supplement affordable housing policies.
- Legislative Analyst Office
 - "Non-partisan government agency that provides fiscal and policy advice to California legislature since 1941"
- California housing shortage ultimately caused by lack of available units
- Development is often hindered by regulation or community opposition (both private and publicly subsidized housing)
- Correlation between lack of housing and community displacement
- Possible correlation between pace of subsidized housing and lack of market-rate housing
- Population moving into California likely discouraged by rent prices, losing new economic activity for the state
- Rent becomes cheaper for units as they age, unless there is no new construction
- "While the role of affordable housing programs in helping California's most disadvantaged residents remains important, we suggest policy makers primarily focus on expanding efforts to encourage private housing development."

Tiderington (2015). The Paradox of Permanent Housing

- Research article from the Journal of Administration and Policy in Mental Health and Mental Health Services Research. Studied the results of Single-site Treatment-First Permanent Supportive Housing and the success of residents in entering independent housing. Results find these programs often become insurmountable to clients when they fail to properly address the needs of their client. Recommends programs provide routes that open mainstream affordable housing to service users as next (and ideally final step) in the continuum of care.
- Single-site Permanent Supportive Housing often becomes an insurmountable hurdle in progress of service users when it fails to properly address the needs of their client.
- Permanent Supportive Housing programs often becomes permanent housing conditions for service users when it fails to properly address the needs of their clients. Suggests routes that open mainstream affordable housing be the next step in transitional housing.

Tsemberis, S., Gulcur, L., & Nakae, M. (2004). Housing First, Consumer Choice, and Harm Reduction for Homeless Individuals With a Dual Diagnosis.

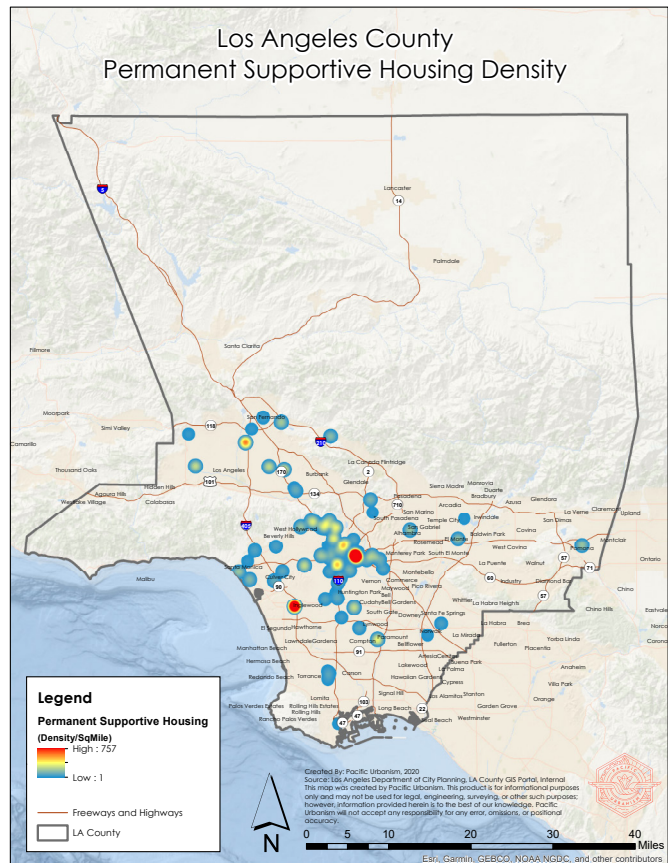

- Research article from the American Journal of Public Health. Examined longitudinal effects of Housing First programs and causes thereof. Noted that people who were not placed in a single-site homeless shelter required less treatment services with similar rates of success.
- "... most consumers prefer to live in a place of their own rather than in congregate specialized housing with treatment services onsite"
- People who were not placed in a single-site homeless shelter required less treatment services.

Wasserman & Clair (2001). Housing Patterns of Homeless People

- Investigation into living conditions of homeless communities and their relationship with surrounding neighborhoods and non-homeless communities. Reports certain degrees of hierarchy within homeless communities similar to traditional community structure. Suggests this can facilitate the inclusion of homeless populations into formal societal institutions. Recommends utilizing the homeless population as community stakeholders who "enjoy full participation in community planning and revitalization."
- Designation of people experiencing homelessness as a monolithic group often ends in the exclusion of the homeless from the community both culturally and physically. Recommends utilizing the homeless as community stakeholders.
- "The patterns and practices illustrated within street homeless communities in our study demonstrate that they are neither disorganized nor entirely dysfunctional. Therefore, rather than being repressed, the street homeless could be utilized in a proactive way as community stakeholders who enjoy full participation in community planning and revitalization." [Page 95]

Density of permanent supportive housing (PSH) units within Los Angeles County is highest near central and southern Los Angeles, Hollywood, Inglewood, Venice Beach, and Santa Monica, with notable concentrations dispersed throughout the San Fernando Valley.

HOUSING TYPES

Housing by Length of Stay

Type of Housing	Characteristics
Permanent Housing¹	No stated time limit on how long a tenant is allowed to live in a unit. Usually expected to be long term or indefinite .
Transitional Housing	Stated time limit on how long a tenant is allowed to live in a unit or receive rental assistance for the unit. HUD defines housing to be transitional up to 24 months .
Short-term or Temporary Housing	Similar to transitional housing but generally intended to provide housing for less than 90 days .
Emergency Shelter	Housing provided on a very short term basis. Usually intended for less than 7 nights.

Housing by Level of Support

Type of Housing	Characteristics
Independent Living	Housing provided to those who do not require assistance in day-to-day living.
Assisted Living²	Housing with additional services provided to those who require assistance or treatment .

Housing by Type of Assistance

Type of Housing	Characteristics
Market Rate Housing	Standard housing in which the tenant pays market value without subsidies or financial assistance.
Affordable Housing³	Housing developments that were built using a subsidy and are required by local policy or otherwise to provide units below market rate .
Subsidized Housing (Scatter Site)⁴	Housing in which an individual/family lives in a third-party unit (usually a market rate unit with a private landlord) and receives a voucher to assist in rental payments.
Subsidized Housing (Single Site)⁵	A single development (project) purposed to provide subsidized units to tenants. All tenants of this development participate in a housing assistance program, usually administered by a single organization or authority that is responsible for the development . Tenants who move out of the development relinquish their subsidies as well.
Homeless Prevention Housing	Assistance provided to people in their own private unit who are at risk of homelessness. ⁶
Placement	Provides assistance to those facing challenges in finding new housing such as housing applications, moving expenses, security deposits, etc.

Housing by Type of Form

Type of Housing	Characteristics
Multi-Family Dwellings	Developments designed for multiple families to have their own exclusive access to their portion of the property.
Single-Family Dwellings	Housing designed for occupation by a single family (house).
Single Room Occupancy	Single rooms that are rented to individuals for sleeping and living, but require the sharing of bathrooms, kitchens, and other common spaces.
Group Housing	An entire development made up of units similar to SRO's, but generally require tenants to participate in a program that also provides meals or amenities .

¹ Permanent Supportive Housing programs often becomes permanent housing conditions for service users when it fails to properly address the needs of their clients. (Tiderington, 2015)

² Services usually provided at single-site developments though some studies suggest decentralization of services offer higher success rates for patients (Tsemberis, Gulcur, & Nakae, 2004)

³ Some jurisdictions within the US require or incentivize developers to include affordable housing units in building plans (Schuetz, Meltzer, & Been, 2009)

⁴ Scattered-site programs utilize preexisting housing markets and local landlord associations to secure units for service users. (Nelson, et al., 2014)

⁵ Residents in single-site shelters often report experiencing social isolation and low levels of community integration (Ecker & Aubry, 2017)

⁶ California farm workers are often at risk of homelessness due to the nature of their work (California HCD, 2017)

TABLE LEGEND

Column headers for attached table defined are below (FHA, HACLA, HCD, HCIDLA, HOME, LACDA, LADMH, LAHSA, LIHTC, MR, NHPD, PBV, PH, Section 202, Section 8, TCAC, & PSH)

FHA. US Department of Housing and Urban Development's Federal Housing Administration. FHA provides mortgage subsidies to private owners of multifamily housing in order to reduce development costs. In return, HUD requires assisted properties to agree to low income 'use restrictions' which restricted occupancy to households meeting the program's income limits and restricted contract rents.

HACLA. Housing Authority of the City of Los Angeles; owns and operates Public Housing Units in the City of Los Angeles. Administers Housing Choice Vouchers (including section 8), Project Based Section 8 properties, Veteran Affairs Supportive Housing (VASH), a joint program of HUD and the VA administered through HACLA and the VA medical center in West LA.

HCD. California Department of Housing and Community Development. This department oversees the Multifamily Housing Program (MHP) for the State of California.

HCIDLA. City of Los Angeles Housing and Community Investment Department; Finances affordable housing developments. HCID has a Prop HHH division working with LAHSA.

HOME. HOME Investment Partnerships Program (HOME). This program provides formula grants to States and localities that communities use - often in partnership with local nonprofit groups - to fund a wide range of activities including building, buying, and/or rehabilitating affordable housing for rent or homeownership or providing direct rental assistance to low-income people.

LACDA. Los Angeles County Development Authority; created in 2019 by consolidating the Los Angeles Community Development Commission (CDC) and the Housing Authority of the County of Los Angeles (HACoLA).

LADMH. Los Angeles Department of Mental Health. This department oversees housing units under the Mental Health Services Act (MHSA) housing program.

LAHSA. Los Angeles Homeless Services Authority. LAHSA is the lead agency in the Los Angeles Continuum of Care, which is the regional planning body that coordinates housing and services for homeless families and individuals in Los Angeles County. LAHSA coordinates and manages over $400 million annually in federal, state, county, and city funds for programs that provide shelter, housing, and services to people experiencing homelessness.

LIHTC. The Low Income Housing Tax Credit Program (LIHTC) was created by the Tax Reform Act of 1986 to finance the construction, rehabilitation, and preservation of affordable housing for lower income households. The program is designed to encourage private individuals and corporations to invest in affordable housing by providing a tax credit over a 10-year period – a dollar-for-dollar reduction in federal taxes owed on other income.

MR. Moderate Rehabilitation. The moderate rehabilitation program provides project-based rental assistance for low income families. The program was repealed in 1991 and no new projects are authorized for development. Assistance is limited to properties previously rehabilitated pursuant to a housing assistance payments (HAP) contract between an owner and a Public Housing Agency (PHA).

NHPD. National Housing Preservation Database. The NHPD is an address-level inventory of federally assisted rental housing in the US. Data in the NHPD come from the US Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the US Department of Agriculture (USDA), and include ten federally subsidized programs. Only state and local subsidies from Connecticut, Florida, and Massachusetts are included in this database.

PBV. Project Based Vouchers. PBVs are a component of a public housing agency's (PHA's) Housing Choice Voucher (HCV) program. PHAs are not allocated additional funding for PBV units; the PHA uses its tenant-based voucher funding to allocate project-based units to a project. Projects are typically selected for PBVs through a competitive process managed by the PHA; although in certain cases projects may be selected non-competitively.

PH. Public Housing. Public Housing was established by the Housing Act of 1937, and is the federal government's oldest subsidized rental housing program. HUD administers federal funds to local public housing agencies that manage and operate this government-owned housing. All public housing residents must have incomes at or below 80% of area median income and at least 40% of new admissions in any year must have incomes at or below 30% of area median income. Local public housing agencies can establish local preferences for certain populations, such as the elderly, persons with disabilities, veterans, full-time workers, domestic violence victims, or people who are homeless or at risk of being homeless. Rents for residents of public housing are restricted to the highest of 30% of their monthly adjusted income, 10% of their monthly gross income, their welfare shelter allowance, or a local public housing agency established minimum rent of up to $50.

Section 202. The Section 202 Program was established under the Housing Act of 1959 and is administered by HUD. The program has evolved over the years, but has either provided direct loans or capital advances from the federal government for the development of housing for low income seniors.

Section 8. Project-Based Section 8 was established in 1974. HUD entered into Housing Assistance Payments (HAP) contracts with private owners to serve low income tenants. Tenants pay 30% of their monthly adjusted income for rent and utilities and HUD pays the owner the difference between the contract rent and the tenant's portion. New residents of Project-Based Section 8 units can have incomes of no more than 80% of area median income (AMI) and 40% must have incomes below 30% of AMI.

TCAC. Tax Credit Allocation Committee. The California Tax Credit Allocation Committee ("Committee" or "CTCAC") administers the low income housing tax credit program to encourage private investment in affordable rental housing for households meeting certain income requirements. Credits are available for new construction projects or existing properties undergoing rehabilitation.

PSH. Permanent Supportive Housing. PSH is permanent housing with indefinite leasing or rental assistance paired with supportive services to assist homeless persons with a disability or families with an adult or child member with a disability achieve housing stability.

Glossary of Terms

Section 8 NC/ Project-Based Section 8:

The Section 8 NC (New Construction)/SR (Substantial Rehabilitation) Program, commonly referred to as Project-Based Section 8. Not to be confused with the Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher Program, the Section 8 NC/SR Program originally provided a direct rental subsidy to building owners who housed low-income tenants in newly built or rehabilitated units. Under the program, a low-income tenant pays 30 percent of his or her income for rent, and the government pays the difference between that amount and the fair market rent for the unit. Unlike Section 8 Housing Choice Vouchers, the subsidy is limited to a specific project and cannot be used at any other housing location. Properties listed under “Sec 8 NC” benefit from Project-Based Section 8 Vouchers financed at the federal level, through HUD.

PRAC/Section 202:

HUD provides interest-free capital advances to private, nonprofit sponsors to finance the development of supportive housing for the elderly. The capital advance does not have to be repaid as long as the project serves very low-income elderly persons for 40 years. Project rental assistance funds (PRAC) are provided to cover the difference between the HUD-approved operating cost for the project and the tenants’ contribution towards rent.

LMSA:

In the Loan Management Set-Aside (LMSA) program, HUD contracts with owners of HUD-insured multifamily or HUD-held housing projects that are experiencing financial problems. Section 8 assistance to those properties provides financial support to prevent default.

Low Income Housing

Low Income Housing refers to income-based housing options subsidized in some way by the government. Low Income Housing encompasses both Public Housing and Section 8 and other voucher housing.

Public Housing

Public housing is managed by local housing authorities, overseen by HUD, and is available to renters with low income that meet the criteria of the program.

Affordable Housing

Defined by HUD as housing that costs no more than 30% of a household’s income. Affordable housing is not tied to any particular program or policy. Housing formally supported by public funds and programs, particularly with income criteria is “low-income” housing. HACLA defines a few of its properties as “affordable” rather than “low-income”, but I haven’t been able to find how they make that distinction.

Multifamily subsidized housing

Subsidized housing is owned and operated by private owners who receive subsidies in exchange for renting to low- and moderate-income people. Owners may be individual landlords or for-profit or nonprofit corporations, but not housing authorities. Most often, subsidized housing refers to LIHTC-recipient properties.

Supportive Housing (SH)

SH units are for individuals and families who are homeless or chronically homeless. SH is housing combined with services, which may include mental health and health services, drug and alcohol treatment, and education and job training. Prop HHH passed in 2016 to create a loan program to fund supportive housing projects. Permanent Supportive Housing (PSH) provides permanent housing and support services, rather than temporary/transitional housing and services.

Resources and Areas for Further Research

Areas for Further Research

The results shown in the following inventory tables provide a subtotal of subsidized low income housing units in Los Angeles county. These tables exclude Permanent Supportive Housing (PSH) units, which are recorded by local agencies as unit and bed counts, from the subtotal results while still reporting these figures for each jurisdiction. Due to this, an ancillary study which isolates PSH units and analyzes them by both unit and bed counts is required in order to determine an accurate amount of available Permanent Supportive Housing in Los Angeles.

Affordable Housing Resources

The results from this study are intended to provide information on the status and total amount of subsidized low income housing for the Los Angeles area, and not as a resource for obtaining subsidized housing. If you or someone you know requires assistance finding affordable housing or housing-related resources, please see the following resources:
